Also see a number of other local crafts and goods; a hand-made pasta shop and a confectionery where the traditional almond pastries are still made the way they were generations ago. Continue through the beautiful Peloponnesian countryside towards Ancient Olympia; along the way, stop at a beautiful honey farm, where you'll learn the secrets of the world-renowned Greek honey firsthand from a working beekeeper. You'll also see her mother making "diples", a traditional dessert drizzled with honey, cooked just for you in an outdoor kitchen under the trees! With the day drawing to a close, stop at one of the first organic Greek wineries and a walk through their vineyards, all followed by a delicious homemade dinner. Spend the night among the vineyards, in their traditional guesthouse, a former watermill. (L, D)

Day 2: Olympia-Arachova

The next morning belongs to Ancient Olympia, the most important athletic, religious and political center of the ancient Greek world. Here, in one of the last remaining tanning workshops in Europe, see what a tanner's working life was, almost unchanged from a century ago up to today, and listen to the tanners' stories – father and son – to understand what life is like today in this part of Greece. Enjoy lunch under the shade of the large plane tree in the town square, where you will taste local delicacies prepared for you by women of the village. You will spend the night in a charming family-run guest house in the pretty village of Kastraki, right under the towering rocks of Meteora. (B, L)

Day 4: Meteora-Athens

Meteora is a stunning natural phenomenon, featuring enormous sandstone columns, formed millions of years ago, all pointing heavenward. These remote rock skyscrapers became dwelling-places for Christian Orthodox monks and, by the 14th century, large monastic communities were flourishing on the summits of many of these rocks. Today, six monasteries are still functioning, of which you will visit two. Walk around and drive among the rocks, to make sure you soak in the sights and the awe-inspiring landscape before enjoying lunch in a nearby Kalambaka. Afternoon visit a local icon painter from a family of artists linked for generations to the monasteries here. In his tiny workshop you'll have a chance to learn about his art and try out your skills in customizing an orthodox icon to take back home with you! Then it's a stop at the small but original Book Museum, where you'll get to try your skills in Greek handwriting and find out about Greek classrooms of the past. The owner is a fascinating personality, a collector of rare books that decided to turn his passion into a private museum! Continue to the little-known Forest of the White River, a group of small mountain villages hidden in the depths of a massive forest. Here, at a mountain lodge in perfect harmony with its surroundings, you'll dine and spend the night under the warm hospitality of Mrs Eleni, the owner who fell in love with the region some 40 years ago. (B, L)

Day 5: Greek mountain scenery-Athens

Then it's off to a nearby winery to taste the area's best wines, cheeses and cold cuts, before lunch at a local tavern. Here, you'll eat like locals, savoring wild mountain greens, juicy lamb ribs and other local specialties. After this short stop continue to Epidaurus and visit the ancient theatre. Probably the most beautiful and best preserved of its kind. The theater of Epidaurus was built in the 4th century BC by Polykleitos the Younger. Due to its excellent acoustics and condition, the ancient theater is still used today. Athens and Island Hopping

Our island hopping itineraries vary in duration and inclusions. For those interested to visit major archaeological sites in Athens as well as some of the Greek Islands we offer selection of customised itineraries that include both. We call them customised as the duration, standard of accommodation or even places of visit can be changed. Most operate on a daily basis although the sequence of itineraries may vary depending on island visited.

Comprehensive Island Hopping

Our comprehensive itineraries are named after the Greek Gods. They highlight the most popular islands and include Santorini, Mykonos, Rhodes, Crete as well Athens. With those packages, not only do you get to stay on these legendary islands, and ferries and transfers are taken care of but we have also included local tours. Our guides are locals who live and work on the islands and know them intimately. Of course we also use best value hotels on each island so that we can offer a great holiday at a great price.

Island Hopping Passes

We offer two main types of Island hopping passes, which offer different inclusions and accommodation. Island Hopping Passes allow visits to nominated islands for a set amount of nights on each. Don't forget to visit Apollonia. Rent a boat from its picturesque little harbour to guide you through the island's rugged beauties or to take you to the opposite situated island of Kimolos! (B)

Day 11: Milos-Santorini

Transfer from your hotel to the port for a ferry ride to Santorini, the crescent-shaped island also called Thira, the precious gem of the Aegean. (B)

Day 12: Santorini

Free day to explore Santorini, considered to be the most sought after place for a romantic getaway, since there are not many places in the world with exquisitely clear waters while perched on the rim of a massive active volcano in the middle of the sea! Take an organised tour of the island or explore it by food and local transport. Firá, together with Oia, Imerovigli and Firotstefáni located high above on a cliff, make up the so-called "Caldera's eyebrow", the balcony of Santorini, which offers an amazing view of the volcano. (B)

Day 13: Santorini

Do not miss island smaller villages; Akrotiri, Pýrgos, Karterádes, Emporió, Ammouði, Finikiá, Períssa, Perivolos, Megalohóri, Messariá and Monólithos. Treat your taste buds to some famous traditional products like cherry tomatoes, white egg plants, fava, caper and "hloró tyri", a special kind of fresh goat cheese found on the island, or why not try some of the exceptional wines produced from grapes grown in the volcanic soil of the island! Assyrtiko, Athyri, Aidani, Mantilaria and Mavrotragano are just some of the distinctive varieties that you can taste at the island's famous wineries or at restaurants. (B)

Day 14: Santorini

After breakfast, transfer to port or airport. (B)

Athens

Best Location

Old quarter of Athens called Plaka is located just beneath Acropolis and full of traditional restaurants, tavernas, shops is the best place to stay. Hotels within the area or just short walking distance in area of Monastiriaki and Thission are also recommended. Most historical sites are within walking distance to Plaka hence no transportation is required. Hotels around Omonia and especially those on small back streets are usually cheaper and often look attractive online but some places can be very busy and noisy and should be reconsidered especially by single or female travellers.

Recommended Stay

As Athens offer numerous sites to visit a minimum 2 night stay is required for a basic sightseeing which usually includes Acropolis, Plaka and the museum. The 3 night stay is recommended as it gives opportunity to enjoy the other sites, traditional markets, churches and soak the unique local atmosphere of the city. The day trips out of town are also recommend to see nearby places such as: Saranic Islands, Cape Sounion, Corinth or even Delphi.

Must See

Acropolis and the Acropolis Museum, Olympic Stadium, Zeus Temple and Monuments of Unknown Soldiers on Constitution Square where the traditional dressed guards stand. Those places are located easy walking distance and can be explored on foot or by participating in one of the half day city tours on offer. Visit to shops, restaurants and local tavernas in the old quarter of town beneath Acropolis commonly known as Plaka area, is also a must.

If Time Permits

Visit Athens Archaeological Museum, Roman Agora, Temple of Hephaestus, Philopappos Hill and Areopagus. For church lovers we recommend Church of Kapnikarea, Orthodox Metropolitan Church and Kaisariani Monastery. Kolonaki district located on the slope of Lycabettus Hill with its upmarket shops and restaurants, Glyfada-beach area and Psiri entertainment area are all worth a visit.

Santorini

Santorini is the place to fall in love! It's an island that has inspired poets and musicians with its breath taking sunsets and crystal waters rippling over the Caldera. With its whitewashed houses, blue-domed churches and never-ending vineyards, Santorini is Greece at its traditional best.

Some theories state that Santorini was once part of the fabled lost continent of Atlantis - a fact which has provided inspiration to great many artists and writers. The black shining pebbles, the bizarre-looking land formations and the black, white and red sands all form to create unforgettable scenery. As evening approaches couples head to the beautiful town of Oia to secure their own romantic candle-lit table and watch the brilliant sun sink beneath the shimmering Aegean Sea. Unforgettable!

- Main Town: Fira (Thira)

Must See:

Santorini is situated on the rim of a volcano in the middle of the sea -surrounded by steep cliffs on three sides. It is famous for spectacular sunsets and crystal waters. White washed houses and churches with blue bells, cobbled streets and magnificent views will captivate you. Sail around the volcano, visit the museums or take the cable car (or a donkey!) from the top of the cliff down to the town. Visit the capital, Fira or Oia - a very pretty village on the top of a cliff - with cave houses and restaurants built into the cliff.

Location! Location! Location!

Santorini is long and narrow with two distinctive sides. One side has towns and villages on the edge of the Caldera - the volcanic depression that collapsed after a volcanic eruption many years ago. The other side has black, volcanic sandy beaches. The sea view is significantly different on each side and usually defines the hotel cost. The most sought after hotels are located on the cliff facing the volcano and offer Caldera views. The most desirable location is prestigious Oia but also Fira (Thira) and nearby areas of Firostefani and Imerovigli - these areas are close to shopping, nightlife and restaurants. Street names are scarce and location descriptions can be inaccurate. It is important to know that some hotels in these areas are actually located 2km to 5 km from the village.

Recommended Hotels:

Websites and some brochures sometimes provide misleading information regarding the type of accommodation offered and exact distances from the town. There are many properties without a common area, reception or pool that often are called hotels. Villas are not necessarily self-standing houses - just a room type.

We take pride in accurately describing both location and room types for each property including the view, so you are assured that your needs will be met. Due to space restrictions, we have a selection of recommended hotels in each category in the brochure and can assist with many other accommodation options.

Mykonos

Mykonos has long been one of the most popular destinations in the Greek islands. A cosmopolitan city with a touch of glamour, but still holding on to many of the Greek traditions. Admire the windmills perched atop the small hill and, get lost amongst the small and maze-like streets and white buildings, shop till your heart's content in some of the most creative shops, glittering with gold and silver. Or perhaps take that day trip to Delos, once the centre of Greek religion, art and commerce. Whatever the reason for your visit, Mykonos is sure to please.

How to Get to Mykonos

From Australia:

- AIR - Qatar Airways have direct flights from/to Doha 4 times week in summer only which connects with flights from major cities in Australia.

From Athens:

- FERRY - from Piraeus port - 6 hrs: Daily
- FAST FERRY OR HYDROFOIL - from Piraeus port - 3 hrs: Daily
- AIR - 45min Few times a day

Connection to other islands:

- HYDROFILS/FERRIES - Daily to Paros (1hrs), Syros (2hrs), Naxos (3hrs), Santorini (3hrs), Ios (3hrs)

General Information

- Port - Two ports. One approx. 800m from town, the second 2km from town. Various ferries operate from either.
- Airport - 4km from town
- Beaches - Distance from town to Plati Yialos 4km, Ornos 3km, Agios Stefanos 4km, Elia 9 km.

Must See:

Mykonos has much to offer. From the famous windmills to the Panagia Paraportiani - an impressive church from 1425, to the museums, Little Venice and the waterways that attract visitors from near and far, Mykonos is an island that awaits discovery. We know Mykonos and have trusted partners - let us assist you with choosing accommodation and activities from the many options available that will ensure you have a holiday to remember!

Recommended Hotels:

Mykonos caters for all - young travellers, families, more mature travellers and gay couples. Please be aware that online descriptions for properties do not always reflect their suitability to individual needs and the type of clientele they cater for. At Greece and Mediterranean Travel Centre we know and support local Myconian families and pride ourselves on accurately describing the type and location of properties we recommend. You are assured of getting the right accommodation and the right location to suit your taste. We have a selection of hotels in the brochure, plus many more options.

Location! Location! Location!

The town is usually preferred location for young travellers, but it can be busy especially in peak season. Hotels of similar standard here are usually significantly more expensive than those in other locations. Beaches are located nearby to Mykonos town and most have access by bus. There are also restaurants and shops in Plati Yialos, Ornos and Elia.

For a quiet, more traditional Greek Island experience we recommend the beach locations that are about 4 or 5 km distance from town. The facilities tend to be more luxurious and affordable and there is regular public transportation available to town. We have recommended hotels also at Elia beach - one of the nicest beaches on the island. It is 9km from town, however, our recommended hotels offer free regular shuttle bus to town even late in the evening.

Greece FAQ

Greece is magnificent in many ways – however communication and organisation are not two of these! When going to Greece – the traveller needs to be prepared for unexpected changes, cancellations or accommodation challenges. This is part of experiencing Greece! You can incur unwanted additional costs if you are not prepared. The digital world can not assist last minutes emergency when the ferry services is changed in last minute or when the ferries don't operate for days because of the weather – or when hotels advise they are full – despite you holding online booking.

Please read the information below as we highlight important facts and provide answers to common questions. We can assist you before and during your visit to ensure that you get the accommodation that you expected and that your trip to Greece is filled with making lifetime memories without stress or unwanted surprises.

Can we contact your Athens office when we need assistant with services we book directly online not through Greece and Mediterranean Travel Centre?

Only our clients have exclusive access to local assistance in Greece 24 hours, 7 days a week. This assistance only applies for services booked through Greece and Mediterranean Travel Centre. We are not able to assist if any issues arise effecting services made with other suppliers or hotels directly. The best thing about travelling with us is knowing that you do not need to worry about anything. When booking with us you have a peace of mind that there is someone available 24/7 to assist you should any issue arise. We assure seamless, stress-free travel so you can be free to focus on having great time.

How long should I stay in Greece?

As long as possible. We suggest starting in Athens then visit some of the islands. The mainland Greece offer abundance of classical sites and usually required at least 4 days to explore the main sites of Delphi, Olympia and Meteora. 2-3 nights in Athens and then at least 2-3 on each island is recommended as travel time and the schedule of the Greek ferries can be unpredictable. Our comprehensive itineraries of 10 to 14 days are most popular. Travellers who want to take advantage of the close proximity of Turkey can combine both countries.

Why is it difficult to find exact hotel location on a map?

The Greek hoteliers, as well as many online booking engines, can use loose terms to describe hotel locations. Clients can get an unwanted surprise when they realise that the only way to access the idyllic hotel chosen is by donkey trail or by climbing hundreds of steps. Location descriptions are commonly vague, and as there are usually no street names on the islands, it is almost impossible to determine the exact location or real walking distance on some maps. Distances described on the website are often inaccurate. The recommendation is to book with someone who physically knows Greece.

How reliable is booking a hotel room in Greece online?

Hotel rooms in Greece vary significantly – there is no official rating system equivalent to 2,3,4,5 star rating that most Australians are familiar with. Hotel standards also differ between locations and especially on the islands. There are also significant difference between room categories within the hotel. Luxury suites that you may find online could be just a room for rent without any services as there are no regulation related to use of name "luxury" or "boutique". Our recommendation for hotels are based on long term business relationships, past clients feedback and personal experiences – ensuring you get the best value accommodation that is conveniently located, well priced, provides friendly and helpful service and understands the needs of our clientele. We can recommend a hotel that meets your budget and expectations.

Are the ferries all the same?

No! There are different types of vessels, classes and seat configuration with varied options on each route. There are two main types of ferry:

Regular Ferries are the largest and slowest vessels – and least expensive. Some may have two to four bedded cabins for night trips. They usually have indoor bars and food outlets.

Fast Ferries are usually modern, quick, more comfortable and more expensive. They vary in size from large vessels similar to cruise boats, to smaller boats such as high-speed catamarans, flying dolphins or Hydrofoils.

Where can I find a Greek ferry timetable and make a booking?

The ferry system that connects Greek islands is generally complicated. Itineraries are usually available in short notice and change constantly. Ferry timetables are usually published a month in advance and last minute schedule changes are common – and usually not communicated! We strongly recommend you have an agent to assist you – inside knowledge will save time and money.

If there is no service the same day, we will arrange alternative accommodation and cancel or amend the arrangements in the next destination(s). We also collect your old ticket, process refund and deliver the new ticket(s) of time permits o we will advise the best way to do it. We will charge cost difference only if applicable. What do I do if I need assistance while in Greece?

Our Athens office is available 24 hours 7 days a week and can be contacted by email or phone if assistance required.

Do I have to call transfer company to change my transfers if the ferry is cancelled or rescheduled?

If you have booked ferry services with us, we will amend transfer(s) arrangements accordingly in destination(s) affected by the changes. We will communicate with relevant transfer providers and inform them about the change. We do not charge fee for this service but supplement may apply should you select alternative services.

Can I upgrade my ferry seat?

Yes – we can help you with this as the options vary depending on vessel, company, detonations etc. Some vessels offer one or 2 categories only while other offer the whole range economy seats, business class as well as VIP section with large leather seats, table and extra services. The change must be made before the ticket is issued. We deliver all tickets. No need to print ticket at local offices.

Should I book a transfer or take a taxi?

We strongly recommend that you always pre-book transfers. In Greece, regular taxis come in all shapes and sizes and drivers generally do not speak English. There is no uber in Greece. Most islands do not have street names and some may have only 1 or few taxis. Even on the popular islands like Mykonos and Santorini the total number of taxis is under 40 on each. Some hotel especially in Santorini do not have road access hence prebooking transfers with us will assure that your hotel is inform about your arrival in order to assist with language.

Which local tours should I take?

We can assist with recommending and booking tours in Athens as well as the islands. We offer preferential rates and provide access to reliable, local offices to assure the quality of service. Book in advance as some tours get sold out quickly.

Will it cost me more if I book through you instead of online?

Save money and time and take advantage of our packages which combine services into the time and cost effective itinerary. We give you access to savings derived from trusted relations we have developed over many years with Greek hotel owners and managers such as early bird discounts, room upgrades and other benefits - these are offered exclusively to our clients. We can combine specific requests into a time and cost effective itinerary with reliable and cost saving means of transportation, transfers and local tours.

The Acropolis stands proud and tall, dominating the centre of Athens and encompassing the Parthenon, Erechtheion and Temple of Athena Nike. For history buffs, the ancient treasures of Greece through the ages can also be found in the Archeological Museum, as well as Hadrian's Arch and the Temple of Olympian Zeus. The Plaka District has always been a favourite with many tourists due to its old world charm and marbled buildings. Other sites around Athens include Constitution Square in Syntagma, which is the city's main square surrounded by offices, cafes, shopping and the House of Parliament (formally the Royal Palace), watch the changing of the Guards as well as visiting the Monument of the Unknown Soldier.

Mainland Greece: Favoured sites for travellers include: Corinth, Mycenae, Epidauros (famous theatre), Nafplio, Olympia (birthplace of the Olympic Games), Delphi (mountain home of the Oracle), and Kalambaka (the magnificent Meteora Monasteries).

Islands: The Greek Islands are separated into groups:

The Saronics: A small group of islands located close to Athens. Aegina, Poros and Hydra are the most popular of this group of Islands. Hydra is most favoured due to its distinctive architecture, its ruggedness and the various colours in the landscapes.

Cyclades: The most popular group of Islands, most famous for white washed buildings and their beaches. Mykonos, Paros, Naxos, Ios and Santorini are the most visited islands within this particular group. Santorini is perhaps one of the most famous of all of the Greek Islands, mostly for its romantic sunsets over the volcano and the narrow streets and famous restaurants. Mykonos is generally known for its beautiful windmills, but it also boasts the charm of many nightclubs, tiny roadside chapels, and breathtaking views from all over the island.

Crete: Heraklion, the Capital of Crete is best known for its close proximity to the famous ruins of Knossos; the mythical Labyrinth palace of the Minoan ruler King Minos.

Dodecanese: The easternmost of the Greek islands, comprise of twelve main islands. Rhodes is the most popular due to the constant sunshine, stunning beaches and fascinating history. Kos, best known as the birthplace of Hippocrates and Patmos is famous for its rocky cliffs and as the place where St John spent his time in exile, most particularly, it is the place in which he wrote his book, "Apocalypse". It also holds an awe-inspiring monastery at the very top of the Island.

Ionian: These islands are on the western side of Greece, the main islands of which include Corfu, Paxi, Lefkas, Kefalonia, Ithaca and Zakynthos.

Sporades: These islands lie in between the Saronics and the Cyclades and mainly include Skiathos, Skopelos, Allonissos and Skyros. These islands are accessible by air when flying Athens to Skiathos. The 2008 hit movie Mamma Mia was filmed on Skopelos.
