Metéora is one of Christianity's holiest places as well as a landscape of outstanding natural beauty. Admire the daunting size of the rock formations where timelessness and beauty prevail, and seek spiritual enlightenment far away from the earthly bustle. The "stone forest" of Meteora is a perfect combination of natural and manmade landscape, practically inducing a sense of the transcendent. The first monks took refuge on these cliff tops fleeing an invading Turkish army around the 11th century. Several monasteries were built in the centuries that followed and all the building materials had to be winched up in baskets. Until 1920 this was the sole means for getting supplies up to the monasteries. Today only six of them remain. In the past, monks had to climb steep rocks to reach the monasteries but today you can follow the steps cut into the rock. Depending on availability during the tour visit 2 of the monasteries. It is breathtaking walk along the paths hidden behind the massive rocks, which are considered to be created by rocks and other materials that were carried by a big river which used to be in this area. Constant wind and rain erosion, as well as other geological changes that happened in the course of time, gave to the rocks their present shape. On the way to Athens stop for photo opportunity at the monument of the King Leonidas of Sparta at Thermopylae. Arrive back to Athens around 6pm enjoy free evening in town. (B)

Island Hopping with Ease

Why Island Hopping

Our Island Hopping programs are the ideal way to explore the magic of the Greek islands. A unique combination of natural beauty, crystal clear seas, sun, ancient history, delicious cuisine and warm hospitality make them unique. Our itineraries include accommodation and allow you to visit a selection of islands using transportation by local ferries with a minimum of fuss as all the ferry tickets are included, booked in advance and delivered to you. We call them customised as the duration, standard of accommodation or selection of islands visited can be changed. Most operate on a daily basis although the sequence of itineraries may vary. There are endless combinations of island and duration hence please contact us should you wish to customise any of the programs, stay longer or visit more islands.

Island Hopping Passes

We offer two main types of Island hopping passes, the difference is inclusions and accommodation. Island Hopping Passes allow visits to nominated islands for set amount of nights on each. There are 3 categories of hotel to choose from. Transfers on the island are optional extras. The Flexi Passes allow travellers to select islands and prices are based on total number of night regardless of island visited. There are four categories of accommodation to choose from.

Comprehensive Island Hopping

Our comprehensive itineraries are named after the Greek Gods. They highlight the most popular islands such as Santorini, Mykonos, Rhodes, Crete as well as Athens. With those packages, not only do you get to stay on these legendary islands, and ferries and transfers are taken care of but we have also included local tours. You will visit the islands with locals who live and work there and know them intimately. Of course we also use best value hotels on each island so that we can offer a great holiday at a great price.

Athens, Islands & Cruising Combinations

On the following pages we present programs that combine cruise with other services. Most of the cruises start in Athens and visit many locations around Greece and Turkey in relatively short period of time and they offer various itineraries and departure days. Start your amazing holiday through the islands by combining it with a stay in Athens, soak up the history of this amazing city with a day tour to take in the sites and then be transferred to the port for your cruise adventures to the islands. For example you can take a cruise to Mykonos, get off, stay in Mykonos to explore the island at your own pace, before re-joining the cruise visit several islands and then disembark in the last port such as Santorini and stay there.

Chartering your own sailing yacht is the ultimate escape. It is also very affordable, costing on average no more than a quality hotel room on the more popular islands. There is a yacht to suit every budget from modest to luxury. For those with skipper licence we offer bareboat yacht charter, alternatively we can provide a fully qualified skipper, leaving you free to lay back and relax. Our large selection of vessels include sailing yachts or various sizes and capacity, catamarans, gulleys and luxury motor yachts.

Day 4: Meteora

Meteora is a stunning natural phenomenon, featuring enormous sandstone columns, formed millions of years ago. These remote rock skyscrapers became dwelling-places for Christian Orthodox monks and, by the 14th century, large monastic communities were flourishing on the summits of these rocks. Today, six monasteries are still functioning, of which you will visit two. Walk around and drive among the rocks, before enjoying lunch in a nearby Kalambaka. Afternoon visit a local icon painter from a family of artists linked for generations to the monasteries. In his tiny workshop to learn about his art and try out your skills in customizing an orthodox icon to take back home with you! Then stop at the small but original Book Museum, to try your skills in Greek handwriting and find out about Greek classrooms of the past. The owner is a fascinating personality, a collector of rare books that decided to turn his passion into a private museum! Continue to the little-known Forest of the White River, a group of small mountain villages hidden in the depths of a massive forest. Here, at a mountain lodge in perfect harmony with its surroundings, you'll dine and spend the night under the warm hospitality of Mrs Eleni, the owner who fell in love with the region some 40 years ago. (B, L)

Day 5: Forest of White River-Athens

Today discover the local specialties and flavours of Northern Greece! First, join a local shepherd and help him milk sheep and goats before hitting a local kitchen for a quick cooking lesson: Pie making is on the menu today! After swim at a beautiful river spot known only to locals. Close by is a fascinating small monastery rarely visited by tourists, which you will also visit. Afternoon Greek coffee will be at a charming rustic outpost with far-reaching valley views. Taste Greek yoghurt and traditional 'spoon sweets' that Mrs Soula, the owner's mother, makes year-round. Then off to a nearby winery to taste the area's best wines, cheeses and cold cuts, before lunch at a local tavern. Here, eat like locals, savouring wild mountain greens, juicy lamb ribs and other local specialties. With this wonderful meal in a village that isn't featured in any tourist map or guide, you'll finish our mountain odyssey, satisfied in body and soul. Then drive back to Athens and drop off at hotel. Santorini

Santorini is the place to fall in love! It's an island that has inspired poets and musicians with its breath taking sunsets and crystal waters rippling over the Caldera. With its whitewashed houses, blue-domed churches and never-ending vineyards, Santorini is Greece at its traditional best.

Some theories state that Santorini was once part of the fabled lost continent of Atlantis - a fact which has provided inspiration to great many artists and writers. The black shining pebbles, the bizarre-looking land formations and the black, white and red sands all form to create unforgettable scenery. As evening approaches couples head to the beautiful town of Oia to secure their own romantic candle-lit table and watch the brilliant sun sink beneath the shimmering Aegean Sea. Unforgettable!

To Rhodes - 3 times a week overnight (7hrs)

Must See

Santorini is situated on the rim of a volcano in the middle of the sea - surrounded by steep cliffs on three sides. It is famous for spectacular sunsets and crystal waters. White washed houses and churches with blue bells, cobbled streets and magnificent views will captivate you. Sail around the volcano, visit the museums or take the cable car (or a donkey!) from the top of the cliff down to the town. Visit the capital, Fira or Oia - a very pretty village on the top of a cliff - with cave houses and restaurants built into the cliff.

Location! Location! Location!

Santorini island is long and narrow with two distinctive sides. One side has towns and villages on the edge of the Caldera - the volcanic depression that collapsed after a volcanic eruption many years ago. The other side has black, volcanic sandy beaches. The sea view is significantly different on each side and usually defines the hotel cost. The most sought after hotels are located on the cliff facing the volcano with Caldera views. The most desirable locations are prestigious Oia, Fira and areas of Firostefani and Imerovigli. Street names are scarce and location descriptions can be inaccurate. It is important to know that some hotels in town can actually be located 2 to 5 km from the village.

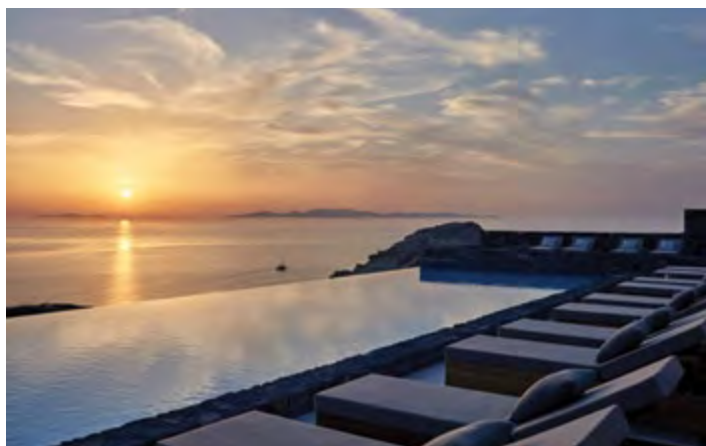

Recommended Hotels

Websites and some brochures sometimes provide misleading information regarding the type of accommodation offered and exact distances from the town. There are many properties without a common area, reception or pool that often are called hotels. Villas are not necessarily self-standing houses - just a room type.

We take pride in accurately describing both location and room types for each property including the view, so you are assured that your needs will be met. Due to space restrictions, we have a selection of recommended hotels in each category in the brochure and can assist with many other accommodation options.

Must See

Mykonos has much to offer. From the famous windmills to the Panagia Paraportiani – an impressive church from 1425, to the museums, Little Venice and the waterways that attract visitors from near and far, Mykonos is an island that awaits discovery. We know Mykonos and have trusted partners - let us assist you with choosing accommodation and activities from the many options available that will ensure you have a holiday to remember!

Recommended Hotels

Mykonos caters for all - young travellers, families, more mature travellers and gay couples. Please be aware that online descriptions for properties do not always reflect their suitability to individual needs and the type of clientele they cater for. At Greece and Mediterranean Travel Centre we know and support local Myconian families and pride ourselves on accurately describing the type and location of properties we recommend. You are assured of getting the right accommodation and the right location to suit your taste. We have a selection of hotels in the brochure, plus many more options.

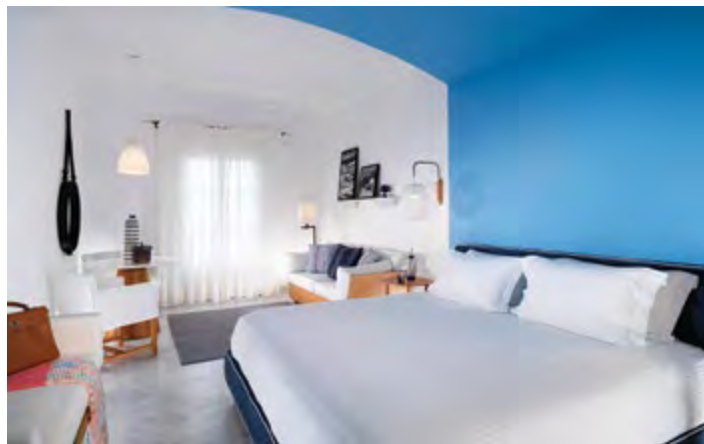

Location! Location! Location!

The town is usually preferred location for young travellers, but it can be busy especially in peak season. Hotels of similar standard here are usually significantly more expensive than those in other locations. Beaches are located nearby to town and most have access by bus. There are also restaurants and shops in Platy Yialos, Ornos and Elia. For more traditional Island experience we recommend the beach locations that are about 4 or 5 km distance from town. The hotels tend to be more affordable and there is regular public transportation available to town. We have recommended hotels also at Elia beach – one of the nicest beaches on the island. It is 9km from town, however, our recommended hotels offer free regular shuttle bus to town even late in the evening.

FAQs

Greece is magnificent in many ways – however communication and organisation are not two of these! When going to Greece – the traveller needs to be prepared for unexpected changes, cancellations or accommodation challenges. This is part of experiencing Greece! You can incur unwanted additional costs if you are not prepared. The digital world can not assist last minutes emergency when the ferry services is changed in last minute or when the ferries don't operate for days because of the weather – or when hotels advise they are full – despite you holding online booking.

Please read the information below as we highlight important facts and provide answers to common questions. We can assist you before and during your visit to ensure that you get the accommodation that you expected and that your trip to Greece is filled with making lifetime memories without stress or unwanted surprises.

Can we contact your Athens office when we need assistant with services we book directly online not through Greece and Mediterranean Travel Centre?

Only our clients have exclusive access to local assistance in Greece 24 hours, 7 days a week. This assistance only applies for services booked through Greece and Mediterranean Travel Centre. We are not able to assist if any issues arise effecting services made with other suppliers or hotels directly. The best thing about travelling with us is knowing that you do not need to worry about anything. When booking with us you have a peace of mind that there is someone available 24/7 to assist you should any issue arise. We assure seamless, stress-free travel so you can be free to focus on having great time.

How long should I stay in Greece?

As long as possible. We suggest starting in Athens then visit some of the islands. The mainland Greece offer abundance of classical sites and usually required at least 4 days to explore the main sites of Delphi, Olympia and Meteora. 2-3 nights in Athens and then at least 2-3 on each island is recommended as travel time and the schedule of the Greek ferries can be unpredictable. Our comprehensive itineraries of 10 to 14 days are most popular. Travellers who want to take advantage of the close proximity of Turkey can combine both countries.

Why is it difficult to find exact hotel location on a map?

The Greek hoteliers, as well as many online booking engines, can use loose terms to describe hotel locations. Clients can get an unwanted surprise when they realise that the only way to access the idyllic hotel chosen is by donkey trail or by climbing hundreds of steps. Location descriptions are commonly vague, and as there are usually no street names on the islands, it is almost impossible to determine the exact location or real walking distance on some maps. Distances described on the website are often inaccurate. The recommendation is to book with someone who physically knows Greece.

Our transfers in Athens

How reliable is booking a hotel room in Greece online?

Hotel rooms in Greece vary significantly – there is no official rating system equivalent to 2,3,4,5 star rating that most Australians are familiar with. Hotel standards also differ between locations and especially on the islands. There are also significant difference between room categories within the hotel. Luxury suites that you may find online could be just a room for rent without any services as there are no regulation related to use of name "luxury" or "boutique". Our recommendation for hotels are based on long term business relationships, past clients feedback and personal experiences - ensuring you get the best value accommodation that is conveniently located, well priced, provides friendly and helpful service and understands the needs of our clientele. We can recommend a hotel that meets your budget and expectations.

Are the ferries all the same?

No! There are different types of vessels, classes and seat configuration with varied options on each route. There are two main types of ferry:

Regular Ferries are the largest and slowest vessels – and least expensive. Some may have two to four bedded cabins for night trips. They usually have indoor bars and food outlets.

Fast Ferries are usually modern, quick, more comfortable and more expensive. They vary in size from large vessels similar to cruise boats, to smaller boats such as high-speed catamarans, flying dolphins or Hydrofoils.

Where can I find a Greek ferry timetable and make a booking?

The ferry system that connects Greek islands is generally complicated. Itineraries are usually available in short notice and change constantly. Ferry timetables are usually published a month in advance and last minute schedule changes are common – and usually not communicated! We strongly recommend you have an agent to assist you – inside knowledge will save time and money.

Santorini Port

Which island(s) should I visit?

Peaceful, active, party, thrill seeker – Greece has it all. Beautiful beaches and Roman Venetian and Turkish architecture, castles, luxury resorts and traditional villages. There is something to appeal to everyone. Each island is unique and although some are more popular than the others they are all worth a visit. Let us assist you to select destinations to suit your taste and budget – discover Greece at its best!

What do I do if there is a strike, schedule change, cancellation or other unexpected event?

We will contact you or your travel agent in advance if we have prior notice of strike, cancellation or amendment, giving you an advantage to book alternative arrangements. If there is no service the same day, we will arrange alternative accommodation and cancel or assist you to amend the services in the next destination(s). We also collect your old ticket, process refund and deliver the new ticket(s) if time permits or we will advise the best way to do it. We will charge cost difference only if applicable. We will provide a letter for insurance purposes clearly stating the reason for change and outlining any extra costs that may have incurred.

What do I do if I need assistance while in Greece?

Our Athens office is available 24 hours 7 days a week and can be contacted by email or phone if assistance required while in Greece.

Do I have to call transfer company to change my transfers if the ferry is cancelled or rescheduled?

If you have booked ferry services with us, we will amend transfer(s) arrangements accordingly in destination(s) affected by the changes. We will communicate with relevant transfer providers and inform them about the change. We do not charge a fee for this service but supplement may apply should you select alternative services.

Can I upgrade my ferry seat?

Yes – we can help you with this as the options vary depending on vessel, company, detentions etc. Some vessels offer one or 2 categories only while others offer the whole range economy seats, business class as well as VIP section with large leather seats, table and extra services. The change must be made before the ticket is issued. We deliver all tickets. No need to print ticket at local offices.

Should I book a transfer or take a taxi?

We strongly recommend to always pre-book transfers in advance. In Greece, regular taxis come in all shapes and sizes and drivers generally do not speak English. There is no uber in Greece. Most islands do not have street names and some may have only 1 or few taxis. Even on the popular islands like Mykonos and Santorini the total number of taxis is under 40 on each despite the fact that there may be over 50,000 tourists on the island at the time. Some hotels especially in Santorini do not have road access hence prebooking transfers with us will assure that your hotel is informed about your arrival in order to send staff to meet you and assist with language.

Which local tours should I take?

We can assist with recommending and booking tours in Athens as well as the islands. We offer preferential rates and provide access to reliable, local offices to assure the quality of service. Book in advance as some tours get sold out quickly.

Will it cost more if I book through you instead of online?

Save money and time and take advantage of our packages which combine services into the time and cost effective itinerary. We give you access to savings derived from trusted relations we have developed over many years with Greek hotel owners and managers such as early bird discounts, room upgrades and other benefits – these are offered exclusively to our clients. We can combine specific requests into a time and cost effective itinerary with reliable and cost saving means of transportation, transfers and local tours.

Car hire is suitable to get around mainland Greece, but parking and navigation around main cities can be quite tricky at times. In terms of travel to the Greek Islands, there are limited ferry departures from mid-October to mid-April. During high season there are regular services from Piraeus Port to the main islands but there are not daily services connecting each island. Not all islands are connected by direct ferry. Local buses are available on most islands, but generally they only run between the main stops and not all hotels can be accessed by bus. There are options of direct flights from Athens to main cities and islands, but there are very limited flight connections between the islands.
